
abashed

ashamed or embarrassed

abate

to reduce

abide

to remain; continue; stay;
endure

ablution

a cleansing with water or other liquid, especially as a religious ritual; the liquid used in such an act

abstract

difficult to understand; abstruse;
not applied or practical

accountable

expected to answer for one's actions;
responsible, liable , answerable

accrue

to accumulate over time

acme

the highest point

addict

to devote (oneself) habitually or compulsively; one who is addicted adherent

a follower of a leader;
supporter
